Deep Thinking

60 minutes session
(input + Q&A)

Deep Thinking sessions give you the chance to listen to relevant findings of researchers and practitioners that dig deep in the field of civil society engagement in climate policy and beyond.

Workshop

90 minutes
interactive session

Let's jointly work on pressing questions of civil society engagement in an interactive session.

Hands On

60 minutes session
(presentation + discussion)

We take you to places of real civil society engagement. Listen to first-hand success stories; learn about fights for climate justice and action on the ground, particularly in the field of climate and energy.

Daily Working Group

45 minutes
interactive session

Once a day, 5 times a week, we invite you researchers and practitioners to a continuous working group to jointly elaborate basic requirements for meaningful participation. What are criteria of participatory processes that are perceived as transparent, inclusive, at eye level, enabling and continuous? In a daily 45-minutes session, we are going to look into those 5 elements.

Panel Debate

90 minutes session
(panel debate + discussion)

How did Covid-19 affect the quality of participatory formats and how did the pandemic crisis influence access to political processes? How is civil society involvement organised in Europe? A diverse set of exciting speakers discusses those big questions in two panel sessions on Wednesday and Thursday
